THE RAINCHECK PIN

TWO INVESTIGATORS. ONE COMPLETE MYSTERY.

CASE BRIEF

At the Riverside Makers Fair, a commemorative brass pin vanished from its locked booth case. The host was on stage; a volunteer claims to have been at the tea stall. A rain leak may have caused the panic. Can you explain the disappearance?

TWO PLAYERS

Investigator A gets A01–A03; Investigator B gets B01–B03. Keep your assigned packet private. Talk through your findings before you decide what happened.

VERDICT

Name the person who moved the pin, the actual opening window, the location of the pin, and at least one exhibit from each packet supporting your conclusion.

PLAY DETAILS

A short, standalone investigation designed for about 10–15 minutes; duration is unverified. Two English-reading adults, two screens or optional paper, one pen. No signup, website, app or paid game required.

READ BEFORE THE DOSSIERS

Your playing guide

START IN THREE STEPS

Choose one folder: Screen, A4 or USLetter. Open 01_START_HERE together. Give 02_INVESTIGATOR_A to Player A and 03_INVESTIGATOR_B to Player B. Read your own exhibits privately.

COMPARE OUT LOUD

Do not just hand over your PDF. Describe your clues and compare the timestamps. Together complete 04_SHARED_WORKSHEET. Cite at least one A-series and one B-series exhibit for the verdict.

WHEN STUCK / WHEN DONE

Open the single 06_OPTIONAL_HINT_01 only if needed. Once both people agree on the person, time, location and evidence, open 99_ANSWER_KEY_OPEN_LAST. The last answer page describes the separate paid case; buying it is optional.

SPOILER SAFETY

One optional hint and the full answer are separate PDF files. The free case is complete and never reveals the solution to the paid Bellglass case.

HOW TO WRITE YOUR ANSWER

Screen users: write on paper or in your phone/computer's basic notes app.
The worksheet is a prompt, not a fillable PDF. Both players share one verdict.

PRIVATE PLAYTEST FEEDBACK

dlaepdfuf89+bellglass@gmail.com

Unless a device clock is named, times use the fair master clock.
Device-printed times may differ. Keep the answer closed until your verdict.